

J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College
Course Content Summary

Course Prefix and Number: PHI 225

Credits: 3

Course Title: Selected Problems in Applied Ethics

Course Description: Analyzes and discusses significant contemporary ethical issues and problems existing throughout the various professions, such as business, medicine, law, education, journalism, and public affairs. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Placement in ENG 111 or placement in co-requisites ENG 111 and EDE 11. Lecture 3 hours per week.

General Course Purpose: To provide a humanities elective which enhances critical reading, writing, and thinking skills.

Course Prerequisites and Co-requisites:

Prerequisite: Placement in ENG 111 or placement in co-requisites ENG 111 and EDE 11

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completing the course, the student will be able to

- a. Have heightened sensitivity toward everyday ethical dilemmas by having gone through a process of moral reasoning and reflection on such issues as capital punishment, euthanasia, family relief, etc.;
- b. Better understand and think more clearly about principles of moral action through having studied and reflected on the various ethical positions such as moral absolutism, cultural relativism, and utilitarianism; and
- c. Build a deeper sense of moral responsibility through the reading, thinking, and discussion of moral issues and ethical theories presented in class.

Major Topics to Be Included:

- a. Ethical theories on the standards of moral right and wrong:
  1. Religious absolutism
  2. Cultural relativism
  3. Rational absolutism
  4. Utilitarianism
- b. Morality of taking life:
  1. Suicide
  2. Euthanasia
  3. Abortion
  4. Capital punishment
- c. The moral society:
  1. Famine relief
  2. Environmental ethics

3. Affirmative action
  4. Privacy and its limits
  5. Animal rights
- d. The moral or good life:
1. Greek view of virtue
  2. Hedonism
  3. Spiritual enlightenment
  4. Will to power

Date Created/Updated (Month, Day, and Year): December 18, 2019