Reynolds Community College hosting new student orientation sessions

Richmond, Va. (July 1, 2014) – Reynolds Community College will host a number of new student orientation sessions in July and August for students that will be starting at the college with the fall semester.

The two-hour program for new students will focus on advising and will allow students to register for classes. New students that do not participate in a new student orientation session can start registering for fall semester classes July 28 during Open Registration.

The new SOAR (Student Orientation and Registration) sessions will be held on the Parham Road Campus located at 1651 East Parham Road, the Downtown Campus located at 700 East Jackson Street and the Goochland Campus at 1851 Dickinson Road. New students are strongly encouraged to participate in an orientation session as studies show that students who participate in orientation sessions have a better overall college experience.

To view the orientation dates and times and to sign up, visit www.reynolds.edu or call Reynolds at (804) 371-3000. Fall semester classes begin August 25.

Serving over 20,000 students annually, J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College is the youngest and third largest of 23 community colleges in Virginia. The College operates three campuses serving residents in the City of Richmond and the counties of Henrico, Hanover, Goochland, Powhatan and Louisa.
